

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A process for the manufacture of oriented polychlorotrifluoroethylene (PCTFE) films, wherein molten PCTFE resin is extruded into a crystalline film and the films are oriented with a stretch ratio of at least about 1.5:1. The resulting films have excellent water vapor barrier properties while retaining their other advantageous properties.

5